

LITTLETON, COLORADO

Colorado Front Range local chapter

Mary Carter Greenway — High Line Canal — Lee Gulch Trail, 6-mile hike
Saturday, September 12th, 9:00 am

Join the Colorado Front Range Chapter for a loop of about 6 miles in Littleton — The Mary Carter Greenway Trail that parallels the Platte River from where we'll connect to the High Line Canal and the Lee Gulch Trail. The latter will take us back to the Platte. This is one of the three walks we're offering on September 12th.

The trailhead will be Reynolds Landing. GPS to 6745 S Santa Fe Dr, Littleton, CO 80120 will get you there. The trailhead and a map of the loop is below.

Due to COVID restrictions, we are requiring an RSVP to join this walk, so as to limit the group size to 10. Contact the chapter at ColoradoFrontRange@americanpilgrims.org giving us:

"Mary Carter-High Line-Lee Gulch"

your name

how many people you're requesting for and a telephone number.

This will be a rain, snow or shine event — snow?! Cancellation will be posted on the Chapter's page and in an e-mail sent out the day before to those signed up. We haven't assigned the day-of-event contact yet. Hope to see you there!

What you need to know:

What: 6 mile loop in Littleton: Mary Carter Greenway to the High Line to Lee Gulch Trail

When: Saturday, September 12th, 9:00 am

Where: Trailhead parking is Reynolds Landing (6745 S Santa Fe Dr, Littleton, CO 80120)

Other: RSVP is required! See above for details.

Cost: Nada

